

At Grow Wellbeing we believe health professionals such as psychologists, mental health social workers, speech pathologists & occupational therapists should play an integral role in improving the wellbeing of students.

Grow Wellbeing enables South Australian schools to take a positive step in whole of school wellbeing support. This is achieved through our team of experts, their knowledge of wellbeing challenges and how to successfully utilise Medicare and NDIS funding with no additional charges for services provided in-school.

We bring the mental health expertise into your school and manage the process of early identification, assist with the development of positive mental health and build cognitive, emotional, social and academic skills. There is documented evidence that this support can improve students' ability to manage at school and at home.
